The meeting was in all respects as sensational and as stormy as that held by the committee on finance some weeks ago, when the gas lease was under consideration. The "repealers" were introduced at the instance of Mayor Weaver, and the action of the committee today is the first setback the mayor has received since the inauguration of the reform movement which began with the fight on the gas lease. Another sensation in the political situation today was the arrest of Frank H. Caven, select councilman from the Fight a Warm Onc.

The fight over the street car franchise promises to be a warm one hefore it is finally ended. It is a contest between the mayor and citizens living in the territory through which the proposed new lines are for heart of Frank

That plan was for the contemplative

The committee room was crowded. Select Councilman Thomas J. Ryan, the only Democratic member of select council, suggested that the bills be sent to the city solicitor for his opinion as to their legality.

His suggestion was received with a storm of hisses. This made Mr. Ryan very angry and he spoke bitterly of the disturbers.

Four members of the committee who spoke against the repealers were called "thieves" and "crooks," and so disorderly did the proceedings become that a squad of police was hurriedly summoned. Thereafter better order was maintained.

Indians Getting Their Share.

At the present moment the government officials are engaged in allotting to the Indians their part of the reservation, and it is believed that this part of the work will have been completed within two or three weeks. The tribes on work will have been completed within two or three weeks. The tribes en-titled to sections within the reservation are the Uintahs and the White Utes. In all there are about 900 Indians. Each head of a family is entitled to eighty acres and each child has the right to claim forty acres. The head of the family is construed to mean the husband if living or the wife if the husband is dead. Altogether it is com-Director of Public Works Acker to-day temporarily suspended work on the Torresdale boulevard, which is expected to cost several million dollars, because it is alleged that the contractors are not living up to the specifications in the matter of material furnished in the building of the boulevard public. 32,000 acres, leaving 218,000 acres for the white settlers who may want to take up homesteads.

Law Violated Now.

A singular feature in connection ith this Uintah reservation has come up within the past few days. According to the treaty with the Indians, it is said, the government directed that no one should enter the reservation until the president's proclamation should go into effect. Notwithstanding this, however, it is claimed that a number of persons from the east have been enjoying the exceptional trout fishing within the hounds having entered by within the bounds, having entered by way of the Strawberry river and quietly evading the patrol sent in from Fort Duchesne by the commandant of Another fact that is of perhaps far more significance is that within the reservation there are mineral lands of great value, the principal of which, so ar as Utah is concerned, are coal ands. It has been known for some ime that interested parties have been making surreptitious excursions into he reservation and have been quietly olatting the territory with a view of btaining these coal lends as soon as he proclamation of the president goes into effect. These persons are acting as the agents of certain corporations, and in order to succeed in their purpose a number of dummies will be present at the drawing, if that is the way in which the homesteads are to filed upon and as soon as they receive their num-bers they will comply with all that the government exacts and will subseuently transfer their holdings to their ployers. It may take two or three more years to do this, but, as in may other instances in this and other cell afford to wait until the public and is in such a condition that it will ot notice the final transfers.

Agents May Be Waiting. On the other hand, should it be decreed that there shall be a "rush" into the reservation when the proclamation goes into effect, the interested parties will have instructed agents along the line who will go in and file upon the land in accordance with instructions previously prepared. As a matter of fact it is stated generally that one coal company already has a wagon train within the reservation seeking the best unineral lands to be found. This equipment, it is stated, is composed of civil engineers, mining engineers, line men and experts, and it is asserted that they have been inside the boundaries for the past six weeks without molestation from the army authorities. Equipped as they are reported to be, it will not be a difficult task for them to plat the reservation and come out with information that will be of material value in making legal selections.

$2.500 for the wrenching Groesbeck gave his hands and arms while thrusting him into the outer atmosphere.

When Groesbeck got off the car he turned him over to an officer who conveyed him to jail and locked him up. For this indignity he wants another $2,500 of the company's hard earned coin.

After spending several hours in the city lockup, Colvip was arraigned in the city court before Judge Diehl on the charge of drunkenness. Judge Diehl found him guilty, but when Colvin explained how he had been put off the car let him go without a fine, saying he had evidently gotten all that was coming to him. This was in sp.,e of the fact that several women who had been in the car testified for him.

The testimony of Groesbeck and others showed that Colvin was under the influence of liquor when he boarded the car, and that as soon as he had seated himself he lighted a cigarette and started smoking. When the conductor told him he must stop smoking he became obstreperous and boisterous, and he was then ejected and arrested.

Colvin is a member of the Twenty-second battery, and at the time of his arrest had just been released from the post hospital at Fort Douglas, in which he had had a two months' siege of typhoid fever. He celebrated the event by visiting several saloons and imbibing freely of inebriating beverages.
